

The rectangles below have random fore and back colors and even this text element has runtime supplied font settings.
Changing element colors or other settings do not require report design recompilation.

